Sumner Welles In Serious Condition

Exposure Victim Improving

Foul Play Ruled Out

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Sumner Welles gained slightly today in a fight for his life which nearly had gone when he was found unconscious and half-frozen Sunday in a field near his Maryland home.

Apparently the victim of a heart attack while out for a walk, the former undersecretary of state had lain all night in 15-degree cold when he was found by a farmer yesterday morning and rushed to a Washington hospital.

Dr. George R. Huffman, personal physician to the 56-year-old diplomat, author and columnist, said that Welles has shown "definite improvement, "but declared that he is in a "serious condition."

The doctor said that Welles' hands and feet were badly frozen and it will take two to four days to determine whether amputation of toes or fingers will be necessary. He added in a late night bulletin:

"Mr. Welles is recovering well from shock and his heart action is satisfactory, but he is in serious condition. There are superficial scratches on his face and hands, but no evidence of foul play."

Welles, who helped the late President Roosevelt prepare the original draft of the Atlantic Charter, was last seen Christmas night shortly after 11 p. m. EST by his valet, Gustaf Van Hamme.

Although it was bitter cold, the former undersecretary apparently decided to take his usual nocturnal walk. For the Christmas night walk, Welles put on a heavy plaid mackinaw which his physician said probably saved his life.

MILE FROM HOME

Brooke Kerby, a neighbor farmer and horseman, found him at 3 a. m. Sunday lying unconscious in a field on the Kerby farm, more than a mile from Welles' home.

Kerby said he was returning with his family from a 7 a. m. mass when his 10-year-old son, Henry Kerby, saw the unconscious figure lying about 45 feet from the road which passes the Kerby farm.

"I walked over and, though his face was puffed up with the cold, recognized Mr. Welles," Kerby said. Kerby said he believed that Welles had fallen into a nearby stream, Carry creek, possibly while struggling toward the roadway.

He was first carried to a neighbor's home, and then rushed to Casualty hospital in Washington, where he was placed in an oxygen tent.

The former undersecretary regained consciousness after two hours' treatment, and the oxygen tent was removed. Dr. Huffman said he was "perfectly rational" last night.

Welles was unable, however, to remember anything that had happened in the field, and the physician did not press him for details.

Mercury Drops to 4 Above

A respite from the bitter cold wave which gripped Mansfield over the week end was promised today.

The mercury rise began yesterday after a season's low of four above zero was reported early Sunday at the Mansfield airport.

Mansfield was one of the coldest spots in Ohio yesterday. Only Millport, in Columbiana county, reported a lower reading. It was three below zero there.

Last night's low in Mansfield was 13 above, and at noon temperatures had risen to the 27 mark. Yesterday the mercury did not rise above 24 degrees.

While most Ohioans had hoped for a white Christmas, instead they got near zero temperatures with snow in only a few places. They also got prospects of a gas shortage, a sure sign of arctic weather.

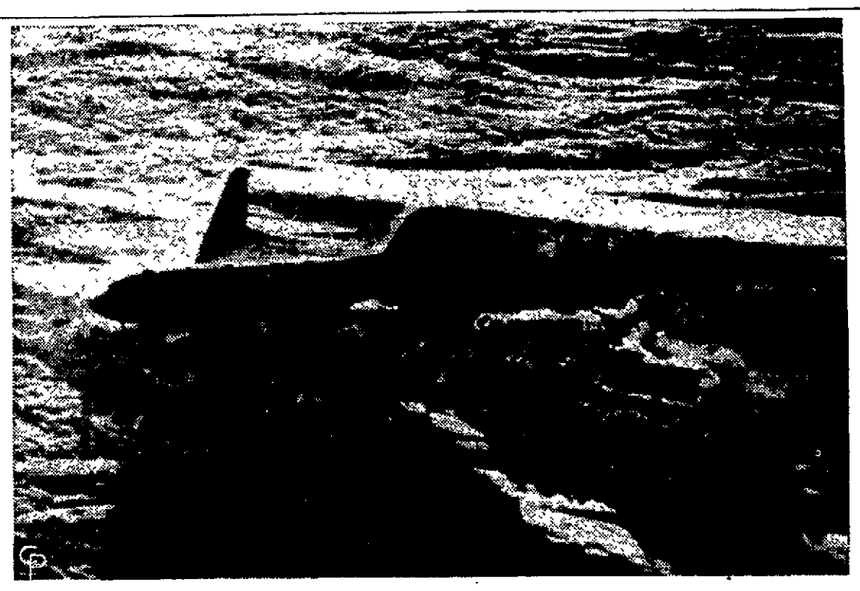
GAS CURTAILED

The East Ohio Gas company invoked a 25 per cent industrial gas curtailment yesterday to protect home owners from being caught short today.

The weatherman said there would be increasing cloudiness and warmer weather today. He said the mercury would climb to 33.

The mercury was expected to dip again to 25 tonight and then was expected to hit a high of 39 tomorrow, the forecaster said. There was a possibility of light snow late tomorrow.

Some of the readings around the state early today were Zanesville with a low of 11 degrees; Dayton, 13; Findlay, 18; Akron and Canton, 12; Cincinnati, 12; Youngstown, 12; Cleveland, 17, and Toledo, 19.



FIRST CRASH—This C-47 crashed Dec. 9, marooning seven flyers. Crude igloos and shelters (right) were built by the men to keep off some of the sub-zero, 100-mile-an-hour winds. Army planes have been dropping supplies to the men, including turkey and trimmings for their Christmas dinner.

TOW ROPES BREAK—In an attempted glider "snatch" on Dec. 18, the tow rope broke, adding two more to the original seven and survivors of the B-17 crash. Another pair joined the little group on Christmas day when a second tow rope broke.—(International)

Reds Arrest Church Head

Hungarian Primate Accused of Treason

BUDAPEST — (INS) — Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, Roman Catholic primate of Hungary, was arrested by the communist-dominated government today and charged with treason.

Cardinal Mindszentry, an outspoken anti-communist, was accused in an official communique of "espionage, treason, black-market currency deals," and of "seeking to overthrow the democratic government of Hungary."

Ironically, the 56-year-old priest was last arrested for seeking to promote democracy by the nazi-dominated Hungarian government of 1944.

His arrest today was freely predicted since Matyas Rakosi, communist vice-premier, denounced "spies, traitors, smugglers and fascists in Cardinals' robes" exactly one month ago.

The communique listing of the charges against the Cardinal followed the same order as Rakosi's, made in a speech denouncing the primate for opposing the government program of nationalizing farms.

Police Probe Rape-Slaying

BRISTOL, CONN., — (UP) — A 44-state police alarm was sounded today for two men charged with the Christmas eve rape-slaying of Mrs. Lillian Rich Brackett, 42, of Plainville, Conn.

A 39-year-old woman boarding-house keeper, her teen-age son and another youth were held for trying to conceal the crime in which the victim was buried, disinterred, dressed in clothing from which labels had been removed and thrown in the backyard of the boarding house.

Joseph W. Therrien, 22, a six-foot one-inch laborer, and George St. James, 18, were sought on charges of manslaughter and aggravated assault.

TRAIN DERAILED

PIQUA — (AP) — Wrecking crews worked yesterday to clear the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad after 28 coal cars of a freight train were derailed Saturday night. There were no injuries.

Operation 'Rescue' Hit By Storms

Giant Waves Slow Carrier

By JAMES F. DONOVAN

ABOARD AIRCRAFT CARRIER SAIPAN —(INS)— This big ship churned northward through heavy seas today in a dramatic race with the Air Force for the honor of rescuing the 13 airmen stranded on a Greenland icecap.

Giant waves were buffeting the Saipan as it entered Canadian waters, however, and there was some question whether it could reach Greenland on schedule and start helicopter rescue operations Wednesday.

The skipper, Capt. Joseph L. Paddy, was forced to reduce speed to 10 knots (about 11 miles an hour) after gales tore down five of the ship's eight radio aerials and left about half the crew seasick.

(The stranded men are in good spirits but getting a "bit impatient, the air force said. Christmas dinners with all the trimmings were dropped to them by parachute and five of the men with families in Greenland talked to them by radio.)

The Saipan left Norfolk, Va., Saturday but was plagued by bad weather almost all the way. The navy hopes its five new helicopters will accomplish what air force rescue teams have failed to do thus far.

Seven of the 13 aid force men have been on the icecap since their transport plane went down on Dec. 9. The others joined them as result of unsuccessful rescue attempts. The last two, members of a second glider rescue team, were left on the icecap Christmas day when the towline of their glider broke.

The pilot of the last glider was Lt. Howard L. Halstead, Greenville, S. C. His companion was not immediately identified.

Lights Go On For Skaters At City Parks

The skating is good on Mansfield's park lakes.

Park Supt. Frank Burton said lights will be turned on at 6:30 today for skaters at North and Liberty park lakes. Lights will remain on until 10 p. m., nightly as long as the ice is safe. Burton said.

The lakes froze gradually and there has been little snow to mar the surface, Burton said. About four inches of ice covers both city lakes, he said.

Flames Claim Three Sleeping Children

STEUBENVILLE —(AP)— A Christmas day fire of undetermined origin killed three sleeping children.

Raymond Wise, 15, Janice Hampton, two and Mary Hampton, nine months, were suffocated said Fire Chief Michael Cody. Mr. and Mrs. Parrish Hampton jr., were away when the fire occurred.

MEETING SLATED

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The American Academy of Management will hold its second annual meeting Thursday at Case Institute of Technology.

RESCUERS FAIL—On Dec. 13 the B-17 shown above crashed in a rescue attempt, adding two more to the ranks of the marooned.

Rush Expected During Week

City Stores Ready For Gift Exchanges

If your Christmas jacket is the wrong size and that gift necktie is too colorful, better exchange them this week, Mansfield merchants advised today.

The merchants, who are preparing for a flood of Christmas exchanges, said they have set no special day or time limit for exchanges, but hope their customers will make all exchanges this week.

In most cases customers will be given other merchandise in exchange for the articles they return. If the merchandise they want is not available at the time they bring in exchanges, merchandise credit slips for the value of the returned article will be issued by some stores.

Although most retail stores did not have figures on this year's Christmas sales available today, the manager of one of the city's larger stores said Christmas sales exceeded last year's business.

Sales were good all last week, even on the day before Christmas when business usually slackens off, merchants said.

Mansfielders crowded downtown stores all day Friday until closing time. An official of the Mansfield Credit Rating bureau said his full office force was kept busy until closing time at 5 p. m. Friday. Usually the day before Christmas is light, he said.

AGED MAN SUCCUMBS

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Injuries received in a traffic accident ten days ago were fatal yesterday to Henry L. Sunderman, 82.

1,800 Out On Strike

CLEVELAND, — (AP) — The International Association of Machinists began a strike today at the plant of Warner Swasey company, which makes machine tools.

Wage increases were the issue. Approximately 1,800 production workers were involved in the three shifts. Picket lines formed at midnight.

Negotiations which began in late October broke down last week.

The company issued a statement contending the union's original demand was for an increase of 19 cents an hour, that the company offered raises ranging from five to 15 cents and the union countered with a demand for a flat increase of 10 cents an hour.

Dutch Press New Attacks

Republicans Plan Guerrilla Warfare

BATAVIA, — (INS) — Dutch forces pressed land and air warfare in Java and Sumatra today, ignoring the Security council's demand for an immediate cease fire.

An official communique claimed new Netherlands victories over the native Indonesian Republicans in east and west Java. The communique also admitted that three Dutch planes have been lost in the fighting.

Meanwhile, the Dutch rejected the truce terms framed by a government in-exile set up by the Indonesians, and the natives were reported planning a bitter-end guerrilla war, based on "scorched earth" tactics.

(In Paris, the security council prepared to meet to consider the Netherlands' defiance of its cease-fire orders.)

The communique asserted that Dutch troops, who now have all of Java's major cities and communications lines, continued "mopping-up" operations.

Strictly In Error!

NEW YORK, — (UP) — The pollsters who forecast President Truman's defeat last November should never have made a flat prediction on the outcome of a possibly close election in the light of their past record of error, the Social Research council said today.

Slain Bandit Linked With Holdup Here

Police Checking Barberton Case

Mansfield police today sought to link the bandit who was shot and killed at Barberton Christmas eve during a store robbery with the man who held up the South Boulevards market on Lexington avenue Dec. 23.

Detectives said that the preliminary description of the Barberton bandit seems to match that of the man who stole $1,288 from Joseph Spitaleri here Thursday night and that they both seem to be about the same age.

They emphasized, however, that no definite decision can be made until a detailed description is available. Barberton police have been asked for details.

Police commented on the similarity between the technique of the Barberton bandit, identified as Brownie Goldewski, 31, of Peninsula, and the holdup man.

Both robbed super-markets just at closing time, when the store was nearly devoid of customers. Both the men posed as customers, and pulled guns as they approached the checkout counters.

Goldewski was felled by police bullets after he had shot Patrolman Vincent Gerek, who sped to the scene of the holdup in response to a telephone call. The bandit was killed by Sgt. James Hinds, who was in the cruiser with Gerek.

The Mansfield robber made a clean getaway after the holdup. A witness said he drove away in a car, heading south.

Plane Crew Weights Out Safe Landing

CLEVELAND, — (AP) — A small cabin monoplane circled near Cleveland airport for two hours and 20 minutes last night while instructor-pilot Merwyn G. Wenzel tried to shake loose a jammed nose wheel of the tricycle landing gear.

When loops and a bounce off the concrete runway failed to bring the wheel down, Wenzel brought the plane in for a safe landing. His student, Thomas Nemyo, and a passenger, Rita Shramek, squeezed toward the plane's tail as the main wheels touched the runway.

That kept the ship's nose up and it skidded to a stop without serious damage.

Callan Named New Ohio Fire Marshal

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Harry J. Callan of Youngstown will be state fire marshal under Gov.-elect Frank J. Lausche.

The choice of Callan, who held the post during the previous Lausche administration in 1945 and 1946, was announced yesterday by Robert L. Mounton, who will be director of commerce in the incoming administration.

No Relief In Sight

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Truman's top-level economic advisers see no hope for an end to large-scale government spending "for many years to come."

Traffic Accidents Kill 270

72 Perish In Flames

(By United Press)

The snow and cold weather that gave most of the nation a real old-fashioned white Christmas also caused one of the highest accidental holiday death tolls in history, a countrywide survey showed today.

Slippery highways increased the number of fatal traffic accidents and the sudden cold snap resulted in hundreds of home fires in which many small children burned to death.

The total of dead soared to 439 with 270 killed in traffic accidents, 72 in fires and 97 in miscellaneous accidents.

The National Safety council had predicted that 265 persons would be killed in traffic. It warned that subsequent deaths from fatal injuries would raise the total even higher.

Temperatures were rising rapidly today and skies were clear over most states as warmer air came down from Canada.

The frigid air mass which caused the cold wave had poured down from Hudson's Bay and sent the mercury tumbling as far south as the deep Dixieland states.

At least 33 children were among those killed in fires resulting from overhead stoves and unsafe Christmas decorations.

Record snows were reported in some parts of the west. Downtown, Reno, Nev., had six to eight inches of new snow and blizzard conditions prevailed on many passes from Nevada to California. The weather bureau said the snowfall this winter was thhe heaviest in 15 years.

A freezing drizzle increased Texas' death total to the highest in the nation, 55, including 33 highway fatalities. California had 50 accidental deaths, including 36 in traffic. Ohio had 32 and New York 26 deaths. Michigan had 25 and Pennsylvania 22.

The most tragic accidents involved little children killed in fires on the holiday dedicated to their joy. Typical were the deaths of three small daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond La Course of Berlin, Vt., The girls, Joan, 8, Judy, 7, and Jean, 4, were killed when fire swept their frame home in 10-below-zero temperatures while the parents were away.

Seven New Jersey children killed in fires included four who died when the stove cooking their Christmas turkey set fire to the house.

At Brooten, Minn., a movie operator was killed when an explosion racked through a theater projection room and started a fire that raged out of control for eight hours.

Six persons, including three children, burned to death in a frame cottage near Barre, Mass. Fireman had to carry water from a pond a half mile away.

Negev Fight Rages Anew

TEL AVIV, ISRAEL, — (AP) — The battle of the Negev, which some observers fear may spark another general Palestine war, was reported raging with new intensity today.

Arab planes dropped bombs east of Tel Aviv last night as Israel went into its second night of total blackout. No damage was reported.

Reports from the Negev desert in the south said Israeli and Egyptian forces hammered at each other from the air and on the ground.

An Israeli military spokesman said merely that military activities were continuing in the Negev. In Cairo, the Egyptian communications minister said the battle has developed into a "general clash." The Minister, Dessouki Abaza Pasha, gave no details of the fighting, but he told newsmen Egypt's military position is "good."

Veteran Newsman Claimed By Death

SANTA MONICA, CALIF., — (AP) — Funeral services will be conducted here tomorrow for newspaper publisher Samuel Grant McClure, 85.

McClure, owner and publisher of the Santa Monica Outlook, died Saturday. Previously he had owned the Glendale, Calif., News-Press, and the Youngstown, O., telegram. Born in Wayne County, O., he began his newspaper career 61 years ago with the Cleveland Leader.

Demand New Koch Trial

WASHINGTON, —(AP)—Seven senators joined last night in a formal demand that Ilse Koch be punished anew for her part in the atrocities of Buchenwald concentration camp.

In a report which censured army officials for reducing her life sentence to four years, the senate investigating committee headed by senator Ferguson (R-Mich) declared:

"If it is legally possible Ilse Koch should be brought to justice in a United States military court.

Failing in that, the report said the American military government of occupied Germany should move to have her tried in German courts "for crimes committed against German nationals."

Educators Meet

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The Ohio Education association meets today through Wednesday in Columbus to elect officers and vote on the proposed legislative program submitted by its executive committee.

They'll Be Sworn In

Eight County Officials to Take Oaths

Eight newly elected or re-elected Richland county officials will take their oaths of office some time this week. They assume their duties next Monday. Three others will take office later in the new year.

Among the latter is County Treasurer Charles Payne whose present term doesn't expire until Sept. 5. Payne was re-elected when he ran unopposed as Democratic candidate.

Common Pleas Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch and Probate Judge S. H. Cramer, both re-elected and both Republicans, will begin their new terms Feb. 9.

The rest of the county officials, due to take office Jan. 3, were undecided today as to when they would take their oaths. They can be sworn in by a judge, a clerk of courts, the county prosecutor, or any notary public.

The officials slated to be sworn in gave no indication they would take their oaths en masse.

The new men around the courthouse next week will include Commissioner Fred Dill, Sheriff E. P. Long, and Prosecutor Harold Lutz.

Men starting new terms in their present offices will include Commissioner Guy Stewart, Clerk of Courts Howard Wenning, Recorder D. D. Orewiler, County Engineer Walter E. Rusk, and Coroner D. C. Lavender.

Some of the county officials have received their certificates from Governor Thomas J. Herbert. However, those who have not received them may be sworn in as long as they have been certified by the county board of elections.

Grandson of the Immortal Teddy Proved Self On African Hilltop

NEW YORK—(AP)—It was a rocky ridge in the Ousseltia valley in Tunisia in January, before the almond trees come to bloom.

A battle was going on between the Americans and Germans, and the bare hillsides echoed a mortal noise. I climbed slowly toward the ridge top with a middle-aged colonel who wore a baseball cap instead of a helmet.

We paused as he mopped the sweat from his forehead.

"I am too old and fat for this kind of nonsense," he puffed. "The last war was much more sensible. We fought it in trenches on the level ground. Today you have to be a mountain goat."

We climbed to the ridge peak and then it became a matter of belly progress.

Nazi artillery and mortar fire whammed along the ridge, like a frenzied blind man banging a piano he hadn't learned to play. From the gullies on the other side rose the sharp music of the doughboy in action — scattered sounds of rifle fire, then the incredibly fast sutter of German machine pistols, swift as the needle of a sewing machine.

It was then I saw the young captain at the peak point of the ridge.

The captain had a field telephone in his hand. He had just set up a forward observation post for his artillery battalion, and he was the eyes and the ears for his gunners, comfortably situated in a wadi far back.

Calmly, almost as placidly as if he were reading a newspaper aloud, he called back directions for support fire for the infantry.

Then he turned around. He had a light sandy mustache of the old-fashioned crowbar style which many young officers had adopted during their stay in England before sailing for Africa. His eyes were alight with battle excitement, and his lips parted in a wide grin as he saw us. Something in that grin stirred an old memory.

In those days when the war was young, the battles were being fought by battalions instead of whole armies, and the papers at home were eager to print the names of individual soliders in action. So I crawled toward him.

"What's your name, Captain?"

"Roosevelt," he said, and his face kindled again in his family's famous friendly grin.

It was Quentin Roosevelt, grandson of President Teddy Roosevelt, living up to his grandfather's gospel of "the strenuous life." He lived it to the core. Old "T. R." won immortal fame as the "Heir of San Juan Hill." But young Quentin—"Q" his battery mates called him — called the shots from many hills."

In 29 brief years he crowded more danger and adventure into his life than his granddaddy ever wrote about. There was no finer soldier in his clan.

Today young Quentin lies dead in distant Hong Kong, killed in a plane crash. I saw him often in the early battles for Tunisia. But I like to remember him as at first — at the peak, having the time of his life atop a nameless hill in Africa."

Harry Vaughan's Acceptance of Argentine Medal Causes Protest

A news commentator (out of the Capital) reported that Presidential Army Aide Harry Vaughan "tossed all the protests into the wastebasket." The 250,000 American Gold Star families must have winced if they heard that. . . .

We reminded Vaughan that no person holding office can accept a foreign medal without permish of the Congress . . . Vaughan's alibi is that "nobody complained" when Argentina medal'd Generals Bradley, Devers and others (It eluded us).

We reported that Argentina (during the war) helped kill U. S. seamen and others by permitting Hitler and Mussolini's ships to refuel in Argentine waters and to protest to the White House about Vaughan's decoration . . . So he "tossed the protests into a basket" . . . Gold Star families, please send this to the President.

"Lend an Ear," the new revusical click at the National Theater, was showered with many posies—the most quotable orchid being John Chapman's: "It is so good it does not need any names to carry it—but should make some!"...Song hit man D. Rose's latest eardorable ditty is "Manhattan Square Dance"—a hippity-hoppity tune.

Most chuckle-worthy episodes in the film, "Paleface," are the crossfires between Bob Hope and Jane Russell (Very amusing tit-for-tat).

Will Rogers' sharpest sarcas-tickle, aimed at the reviewers: "All it takes to be a drama critic is two seats on the aisle!"

Why producers get migraine headaches: A full page ad in Variety reprints a swellalujah review for a movie which appeared in its Hollywood daily. But in the same issue Variety's New York critic raps it! Proving you can't buy a notice with an ad—which founder Sime always argued.

Have another illusion shattered: Despite Lassie's girlish monicker she's a he. Egad, a canine female impersonator! One of the tastier lookie-cookies in the flickers is Geraldine Brooks. She can also act.

This is the time of the year when gazettes and mags waste space listing the best-this-or-that-of-the-year. The hoary feature should be bottled and peddled as a sleeping potion.

Television's progress has many radio-gee-whizzers jumpy.. There will always be room for radio programs, however. The showfolks' "bible" notes that because of technical obstacles 40 per cent of the nation will always be without televiz. The animal wisecrackers in the cartune called "Hiawatha" make it one of the best pen-and-inkspirations.

Predicts Increase In Jobs Next Month

The Ohio State Employment office in Mansfield today predicted employment in the city area will begin to climb after the first of the year.

Despite a lag in construction activity and passing of the peak shopping season and retail employment, January payrolls are not expected to be more than 100 below the December figure, C. W. Handley, OSES office manager, said.

November employment in 38 establishments in the Mansfield area set a record of 18,686, Handley's report showed.

He said employment in these firms, after adjustment of payroll totals to allow for recent layoffs, slightly exceeded the previous record set in September.

Payrolls in the 38 selected establishments showed 18,686 employed in the middle of November. Of the total number employed 3,614 were women. In September the same firms employed 300 fewer workers.

However, most of this increase was erased by several mass layoffs in late November and early December. Nearly 300 workers were released at various times between Nov. 19 aand 29. Almost two-thirds of the workers laid off were women. Several other smaller layoffs also occurred during November in manufacturing plants in the Mansfield area.

GET TEMPORARY JOBS

But the demand for temporary workers in retail firms for the Christmas season partially offset this reduction in manufacturing employment and boosted area employment in December, Handley said. Employment in December is expected to reach 18,495, Handley added.

At the beginning of this month, a total of 707 persons were seeking work through the Mansfield employment office. This was an increase of more than two-fifths over the previous month.

The abrupt rise was due primarily to the mass layoffs during November, Handley said. The current number of job seekers is still one-fifth below the 1948 peak of Feb. 1, however.

The number of job seekers was low during September and October, approximating the Nov. 1 total of about 500.

The demand for workers in the area during November, reflected by the number of openings received by the Mansfield employment office, was more than one-fourth below the October level. Only 350 openings were received at the office during November.

200 MEN FILE

More than 200 of the requests for workers were for men. Of these, one-half called for workers in unskilled operations with average hourly wages of $1 to $1.25. One-fifth of the openings for men were semi-skilled jobs with hourly rates ranging from $1.12, plus incentive earnings, to $1.35.

Requests for skilled men made up more than one-tenth of the demand with hourly rates quoted at $1.50 to $1.71. Calls for service workers accounted for another one-tenth with hourly rates from 85 cents to $1.19.

Openings in clerical and sales occupations made up the rest of the job orders for men, with salaries ranging from $37.50 per week, for clerical workers without experience, to $200 per month, plus expenses, for experienced salesmen.

Drowning Victim's Kin Sought

U. S Immigration authorities were contacted by Mansfield police today in an attempt to locate relatives of Andy Rocus, 54, whose body was found floating in the Rocky Fork creek Friday afternoon.

The only information police have about him is the fact he was born in Austria-Hungary. It is possible, therefore, police said, a relative may be found through immigration department records.

Police said Mr. Rocus had been dead for some time and apparently had died of drowning.

Meanwhile, services for Mr. Rocus were set for 3 p. m. tomorrow at the Wolford funeral home with Rev. John G. Gensel, officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Salvation Army Brings Christmas to 200 Children

In one of the most successful Christmas seasons for Salvation Army workers here, 100 Mansfield families were given a complete Christmas dinner, including a chicken, and 200 children were treated at a Christmas party with candy, toys, oranges, and popcorn balls, Maj. William J. Jones, commander of the citadel, said today.

The Christmas dinners were given at 10 a. m. Friday in brief ceremonies at the Salvation Army headquarters, South Main street.

Mayor Roy Vaughn presented the first basket to an elderly woman, then George H. Smith, chairman of the advisory board, took over and presided at the distribution. Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, pastor of the First Lutheran church, gave the invocation and told the O'Henry story, "Spirit of Christmas."

Cadet William A. Jones pronounced the benediction.

At the party for the children a program was given and Santa Clause appeared to distribute more than 350 toys, a box of candy to each child, as well as oranges and popcorn balls.

A new project this year of the Army was the distribution of 300 Sunshine baskets to patients at hospitals, homes and institutions and gifts to a number of boys in the service.

Seventy-five new garments and shoes were given to the needy.

Maj. Jones said most of the contributions were made possible because of the generosity of Mansfield citizens.

"I wish to thank the people of Mansfield for their cooperation and splendid support, without which the far-reaching program could not have been possible," he said.

Eight Games Face Big Nine Teams This Week

Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK — (UP) — So many guys went out on a limb and had it sawed off this year that the tree of prophecy is barer today than your wallet will be when those Christmas bills come due.

If you're dreaming of a black New Year's, with every check you have to write, save yourself some time and don't bother muttering "never again."

Consider just a few of the prophecies which backfired in the sports world during 1948.

There's a gent over in Brooklyn named Burt Shotton. He managed the 1947 Dodgers and moved out for the returning Leo Durocher last season. Burt's retort was that he would "never again manage a ball club." But there was Shotton, back in business, when Leo moved to the Polo Grounds.

DILIGENT RESEARCH, producing where memory fails, gives us the name of a box fighter called Jersey Joe Walcott. Some of you may remember him as the fellow who promised to knock out Joe Louis in their second fight. The prophecy and the result backfired. New Jersey Joseph went down and out in 11 heats.

Then there was the dire forecast of H. O. (Fritz) Crisler, when he retired as Michigan football coach, that Wolverine football fortunes were ebbing. Yet Michigan at last reports still was the mythical national collegiate football champion.

Dr. Carl Leib, president of the NCAA, told those learned gentlemen that basketball "soon" would leave the public gold camps and return to the campus. At the moment, money still is running ahead.

THE FATHER of Bob Chappuis, a much sought after football player, announced to all concerned that son Robert would play for the Pittsburgh Steelers. Chappuis immediately turned up with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Spring training found Marse Joe McCarthy of the Boston Red Sox claiming his Bosox would "be there" when they handed out the American league pennant. The gentlemen who post odds for a profit made the Yankees the choice and picked the Cardinals in the National league.

Just to show you how it goes, Cleveland's 20 to 1 shots won in the American league with the Red Sox second and the Yanks third. The Cards finished second, so far back in the National league, that they practically headed a second division composed of seven clubs.

The double crossed palms with scallion cluster would seem to go to Joe Louis who, after beating Walcott, said he "definitely" would not fight again. Several weeks later he said there "isn't a chance" he'd change his mind. Now who do you suppose he'll fight in June?

DAN TOPPING, financial pride of the Yankees, denied emphatically along in September that there was a rift with Manager Bucky Harris. The print wasn't dry when Bucky was given his walking papers.

One of the few who didn't stray from the trunk of the tree far enough to give the woodsmen a chopping chance was Ford Frick, National league president. He saw major league expansion to the coast but was content to explain that it was "inevitable." Which gives him a few years.

With his usual modesty, old Fearless would like to point out that as a forecaster he had no peers. There were a few unexpected developments, such as the Cards and Red Sox losing, Coaltown dropping the Derby, Army being held to a tie by Navy and Notre Dame suffering the same indignities at the hands of Southern California.

But you'll have to admit that I picked Citation in the Pimlico Special. Yet, such are the exigencies of this business I suppose some envious rivals will complain about him being the only horse in the race!

Three Fives Still Listed As Unbeaten

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, — (AP) —Big nine basketball teams today headed towards the windup of pre-championship campaigning with an eight-game program and two tournaments on tap for three quintets this week.

The conference race begins a week from Monday night with Wisconsin at Illinois. The following Saturday, Jan. 8, it moves into full stride with Illinois at Indiana, Northwestern at Ohio, Purdue at Iowa, and defending champion Michigan at Minnesota.

The final tune-up week opens Monday night with Ohio State at Denver, and Purdue and Indiana involved with Butler and Notre Dame in an all-Indiana tourney at Indianapolis. The four-team meet closes Tuesday night.

TWO MORE THAN ONE

To date, big nine cagers have won 44 and lost 10 games in non-league skirmishing for an .800 percentage. Wisconsin (4-3) and Northwestern (2-3) are the only conference members who have dropped more than one decision.

Indiana and Purdue, living up to pre-season labels as strong conference "dark-horses," are undefeated in six starts. The Boilermakers have brushed past Detroit, Marquette, Kansas, Nebraska, and Drake twice.

Indiana's conquests have been over De Pauw, Michigan, State, Xavier, Drake, Kansas State and Washington of St. Louis.

Also unbeaten is Minnesota, another likely big nine title threat, with five straight victories—over Western Illinois, Nebraska, De Pauw, Navy and St. Mary's. The Gophers are entered with Vanderbilt, Dartmouth and Drake in a Drake tourney opening Wednesday.

The defending champion Wolverines, along with high-geared Illinois, each has stumbled once in seven starts.

LOSE ONE AFTER FOUR

Michigan fell at Stanford, 53-51, after winning four in a row. The only Illinois setback was a 60-50 loss to De Pauw, and then the Illini, with a sparkling average of almost 70 points per game, trounced the Blue Demons, 89-51, in a second meeting.

Iowa has bowed once, a 49-43 defeat by Michigan State, in six encounters. Ohio State's sole setback in five starts was 64-55 overtime loss to Oklahoma.

Illinois is host to Colgate Wednesday night, opening a two-night series. Besides the Illinois-Colgate windup, St. Mary's is booked at Iowa Thursday night.

Wisconsin visits Marquette Friday night and Saturday night Colgate is at Minnesota, Michigan at Toledo and Dartmouth at Northwestern.

Carl Englehorn's Big 714 Spotlights Bowling Play

Carl Englehorn provided the big news in Mansfield bowling circles yesterday as he concocted an outstanding 714 series on the Colony lanes.

Rolling in the anchor position for Liederkranz in the North Central Ohio league, Englehorn put together big games of 224, 268 and 222. It was one of the best efforts in Mansfield "outside" league play in recent years.

The big total helped Liederkranz to a 923-1028-1011—2962 count and a three-game sweep over Mansfield Zahn's Construction, which had a 2824. Nick Weber of Zahn's had 181-213-203—597 and his mate, Farrell Hipp, came up with 193-213-189—595. Orlie Grable, Liederkranz, had 225-173-197—595.

Liederkranz also won three in a row over the Clyde Big 5. In this match, Liederkranz had 2827 to 2560. Harold Selby paced the Mansfield team with 202-190-223—615. Carl Phillipon had 191-190-218—598, and Grable, 170-208-214—592.

Ohio State Star Wins One First

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — (INS)—Bob Degroot, Ohio State's gift to the mermaids, swam backwards forward to rack up a 32.5 second first place in his event at the 10th annual East-West swimming meet at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

All this means that Degroot, knocking off a win in the second heat of the 50-meter backstroke, was one of the leaders in the 66-42 victory scored by the westerners yesterday.

Bulletin . . .

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Albert Glen "Turk" Edwards today resigned as head coach of the Washington Redskins professional football club and was appointed executive vice-president.

OSU, Denver Stars to Duel On Cage Court

DENVER, Colo. —(INS)— A scoring duel between Ohio State's Dick Schnittker and Denver's Olympic great, Vince "Bullets" Boryla, will probably feature tonight's tilt between the Bucks and the Pioneers in the grand-canyon state.

Christmas turkey will settle in a hurry as the Buckeyes reach for their fourth win in five starts in this, their last game on their western swing.

They got off to a good start, racking up two wins over Butler (60-48) and Marquette (72-47), but then they met the Oklahoma Sooners and suffered a 64-55 clipping.

Bounding back on the balls of their basketball brogans, the Bucks blinked the California Bears twice by 74-60 and 68-64 billings.

The Ohio ace—Schnittker, that is—has tallied an average of 20-and-a-half points per game this year. This puts him in the same league as the Pioneer's Boryla, 6-foot-6 center, who has an average of 25.8 points for four games.

Backing Schnittker on the OSU side of the boards will be Bob Donham, Bob Raidiger, Gene Brown and Bob Burkholder.

'Y' Ring Classes Get Under Way

Boxing classes for "Y" members are being started at the Mansfield YMCA, W. C. Cochran, chairman of the physical committee, announced today.

The classes will be under the direction of Verle Sherman, an experienced ring coach. Fundamentals as well as conditioning will be stressed in classes which will be "on" from 7 until 9 each evening. New equipment has been installed and persons from eight years on up will be eligible.

Visiting the Grid Bowl Camps

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., —(UP) —Coaches of the East and West all-star football squads both admitted today that their players were far behind in conditioning for the annual New Year's day shrine classic.

However, trainer Henry Schmidt of Santa Clara was quite optimistic about the chances of the east team.

"It's the first time in my 10 years of service as trainer for the east team that we've reached this point of development with the team in such splendid shape," Schmidt said. "Not a scratch in a carload."

Tuss McLaughry of Dartmouth, the east mentor, admitted that his players were in good shape but he planned no let-down, scheduling two more workouts for today.

Two heavy drills, with a possible scrimmage in the afternoon, was the order-of-the-day planned by the west coach, Jeff Cravath of Southern California.

★

PASADENA, Cal., — (UP) — Head football coach Bob Voigts of Northwestern was all smiles today as he welcomed back to the squad ends Joe Zuravleff and Armand Cureau, both of whom have been sidelined with injuries.

Zuravleff quickly responded to treatment after suffering a shoulder injury last Thursday, while Cureau was absent from the squad over the weekend because of a cut mouth.

The Wildcats already have reached the peak of their conditioning for their New Year's day Rose Bowl game with California. Voigts said that he does not expect to scrimmage his players this week and will rearrange his practice schedule to cut the workouts to one a day.

★

BILOXI, Miss., —(UP)— Coach Bud Wilkinson today ordered two workouts a day for his Oklahoma sooners, who arrived here by plane yesterday from Oklahoma city for their New Year's day battle with North Carolina in the Sugar Bowl.

Wilkinson was pessimistic about his teams chances, pointing out that "the tarheels have been practicing all along and are way ahead of us."

The Sooners were granted a five-day Christmas holiday. They will practice at the local athletic field and expect to leave for New Orleans Friday.

★

HAMMOND, La., — (UP) — Offensive and defensive drills with "plenty of rough stuff thrown in" were included in today's practice schedule for the North Carolina Tarheels, who meet Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's day.

Coach Carl Snavely, mindful that his boys might still be stuffed with Christmas turkey, held the lightest workouts of the campaign yesterday, limiting the drill to one hour of wind sprints and light exercises.

Fullback Hosea Rodgers and blocking back Bobby Reynolds rejoined the squad yesterday. Rodgers missed one session because of migraine headaches and Reynolds was out two days with minor injuries.

★

VILLANOVA, Pa.,—(UP)—The Villanova football squad was westward bound today to keep its New Year's day date with Nevada in the Harbor Bowl at San Diego, Cal.

The Wildcat squad, numbering 33 players, left here by train yesterday for the Southern California city. They are expected at San Diego Wednesday.

★

MIAMI, Fla., — (UP) — The Georgia Bulldogs planned to continue two workouts a day as they settled down in their new encampment today for their Orange Bowl game with Texas on New Year's day.

A full squad of 48 men, headed by coach Wally Butts, arrived here yesterday. An hour after their arrival, the Bulldogs were out on the practice field, getting the feel of the Orange Bowl Turf.

The Longhorns are scheduled to arrive by air from Texas on Thursday.

EL PASO, Tex., — (UP) — Given a break in the weather, football teams from West Virginia and Texas mines hope to resume their training today for the Sun Bowl game, Jan. 1.

Both teams were forced to cancel yesterday's workouts because of rain and cold weather. West Virginia remained a seven-point choice over the miners, who boasted one of the best records of the nation's minor units this season.

★

SAN DIEGO, Cal., — (UP) — Members of the University of Nevada football team gathered here today for their Harbor Bowl game date with Villanova on New Year's day.

Most of the players arrived during the holiday weekend. They were slated to be joined this morning by seven players and the coaching staff, who left Reno, Nev., by air last night in the middle of a showstorm.

Phone Operator Puts In Bid For Diamond Husky

CINCINNATI, — (UP) — The Cincinnati Reds have received an offer for the contract of Augie Galan, on whom waivers were asked last week.

Miss Loretta Wiseman, telephone operator in the reds' office, said she would like to buy up the contract which may be had for $1 since Galan is being released unconditionally.

"It would be pretty nice to own a husky guy who could mow the lawn," Miss Wiseman explained.

There is only one catch—you have to own a ball club to buy the contract. Miss Wiseman doesn't.

Four Colleges In Cage Meet

(By International News Service)

Quiet reigned supreme on Ohio's college cage courts today, except at Youngstown where four teams are preparing for the Youngstown round-robin tourney.

Muskingum Mount Union, Kent State and Youngstown will collide tonight in the first phase of a two-round affair, with opponents to be determined by the luck of the draw.

Tonight's winners will clash for the title tomorrow night, the losers meeting in a consolation fray.

Also on tap tomorrow are the Bowling Green-Beloit and Toledo-Eastern Kentucky contests.

Virtually all Ohio collegiate cagers took a "breather" over the Christmas weekend.

Wizards of Odds Make a Stand

NEW YORK—(AP)—It's obvious the wizards of odds didn't let a little thing like a statistic stand in their way when they laid down the favorites for next Saturday's bowl games.

The national collegiate athletic burea, which specializes in such things, has ground out another batch of figures sizing up principals in some of the main Jan. 1 football attractions.

These statistics show, among other things, that five of the eight teams which have been rated underdogs in the bigger bowls actually have better offensive records than their favored adversaries.

This is true in the cases of California in the Rose Bowl, Oklahoma in the sugar, Oregon in the cotton, Oklahoma A. and M in the delta and Wake Forest in the Dixie.

The exceptions—that is, chosen elevens with superior attacking records—are Georgia in the Orange, Missouri in the Gator and Nevada in the Harbor bowl.

The NCAB listed records of teams in two other bowls—the salad and sun—on which no odds have been announced.

In these, Arizona and Texas mines have done more with the football than their rivals of the day—Drake and West Virginia, in that order.

The boys who have made Northwestern a 6½ point choice over unblemished California in Pasadena's Rose Bowl didn't take too much stock in the fact that the Bears moved the ball farther both by land and air the past season than did Northwestern—and also scored more points.

California's average yardage per game was 372.6 yards compared with 287 for the Wildcats. The Bears scored 277 points to 171 for Northwestern.

A similar situation exists in the Sugar Bowl where Oklahoma takes one of the best offensive marks in the country only to find itself a 1½ point underdog against North Carolina.

The Sooners averaged 380.2 yards a game, 296.4 by rushing, while North Carolina's average was 303.9. Oklahoma registered 336 points for the year, their Dixie rivals 255.

Southern Methodist is a 6½ point favorite over Oregon at Dallas although the Webfoots ran and passed the ball an average of 337.9 yards a game compared with the Mustangs' 318.9. SMU scored the most points, however—229 to 194.

Oklahoma A. and M. had a better season's mark than William and Mary in ground gaining and scoring but the Indians are favored in their clash at Memphis by six points.

In the Dixie Bowl at Birmingham, Baylor is rated six points better than a Wake Forest team that has averaged nearly 100 yards more a game and scored 215 points to 147.

Georgia, a 7-point choice over Texas at Miami, leads the Longhorns in every offensive phase except rushing. Nevada, figured three points better than Villanova, has a wide statistical edge over its Harbor Bowl foe. Missouri's ground gaining and scoring achievements are also better than those of unbeaten, untied Clemson, the team it's figured to whip by seven points at Jacksonville.

Ike Williams Tops Fighter List

Ring Editor Asks Sugar To Abdicate

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK — (UP) — As the Ring magazine issued its annual ratings of the world's professional boxers today, it also did the following:

(1) Named Lightweight Champion Ike Williams, "fighter of the year."

(2) Advised welterweight champion "Sugar" Ray Robinson to give up his crown and campaign as a middleweight.

(3) Named middle weight Rocky Castellani of Luzerne, Pa., "rookie of the year."

(4) Ranked Bert Lytell of Oakland, Calif., the No. 2- middleweight, right below champion Marcel Cerdan.

(5) Recognized each of the eight world champions as the genuine top man in his division—a down-the-line concurrence not achieved in many years.

(6) Predicted that the fight game's current slump would continue for at least another year.

WINS 10 STRAIGHT

Lightweight champion Williams of Trenton, N. J., was named fighter of the year because his ring achievements were outstanding and because his personal conduct was exemplary. The Trenton Negro achieved 10 straight victories during 1948. They included title defenses against Enrique Bolanos, Beau Jack and Jesse Flores. No other champion made more than one successful defense.

Editor Nat Fleischer of the magazine pointed out in his copyrighted story that welterweight champion Robinson had been "a keen disappointment" during the year. Fleischer said the Harlem Negro's difficulties in Paris down to the 147-pound limit caused him to shun competition among the welters. Accordingly, competition in the division lacked sparkle.

He suggested that Robinson give up the title, since he finds it difficult to make the weight. Robinson's abdication would permit Kid Gavilan of Cuba and Frankie Fernandez of Hawaii to fight for the crown.

Fleischer admitted that Robinson is a fighter of great prowess, and he emphasized that a middleweight title fight between Robinson and Champion Cerdan would be the top fistic attraction of 1949—if the match could be made.

LACK OF TALENT

The boxing slump was caused by lack of top-flight talent, by less money being spent for entertainment, and by television in some areas, he said. Top-flight talent was scarce because the war had prevented proper development of boxers who should be reaching their peaks now.

At the beginning of the year, there were 6,700 professional scrappers in the United States and 3,000 in other countries. The slump caused one in every three to quit the ring during 1948, he said. Approximately 3,200 hung up their gloves. It was an unprecedented massed retirement.

The "fight of the year" was that in which Cerdan upset Tony Zale for the middleweight crown. The "round of the year" wa 11th frame of the Joe Louis-Jersey Joe Walcott heavyweight title fight. That was the round in which Louis belted out Jersey Joe. The surprise of the year was Sandy Saddler's knockout victory over Willie Pep for the featherwight crown.

Rugged California Bears Underdogs In Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif.—(AP)—California's unbeaten Golden Bears move into the Rose Bowl sector today, ready for the final tuneup before tangling with the Northwestern Wildcats in the third renewal of the Big Nine-Pacific Coast conference postseason series.

The 1948 Golden Bear is a large, rugged critter who rolled up 277 points against 10 opponents, including Navy by a 21-7 count and a weak Big Nine eleven from Madison, Wis., by 40-14.

It has three dangerous backs in Jackie Jensen, Jack Swaner and Billy Main; a powerful line that averages 213 pounds from end to end, including Frank Van Deren and John Cunningham on the wings and All-America Rod Franz and giant Jon Baker at the guards.

ONLY ONE LOSS

It has lost but one game in two seasons—to Southern California in 1947—but the Bears arrive at nearby Riverside today to find Northwestern favored to whip them New Year's day.

Northwestern has been installed as a seven-point favorite, a margin that brought this reaction from the NU coach, Bob Voights.

"That is silly in several ways—including the fact that California has such a fine record in Rose Bowl games."

So it has. Back in 1921, an underrated California team defeated, 28-0, a great champion from the then Big Ten, Ohio State.

The next year 11 iron men, playing 60-minute ball for Washington and Jefferson, held the vaunted wonder team to a scoreless tie, and in 1929 came the Georgia Tech 8-7 trick win in the famous but unfortunate wrong-way run of a great center, Roy Riegels.

FAMOUS 'REVERSE'

Cal outplayed the Engineers, but Riegels' reverse gallop to fame set up a safety for Georgia Tech early in the second quarter. It proved to be the margin of an 8-7 defeat instead of what might have been a 7-6 victory.

The Big Blue team from Berkeley came back to the Bowl in 1938 to trim the Crimson Tide of Alabama, 13-0.

Two victories, a somewhat freakish defeat and a tie against a team that just wouldn't quit. Voights wasn't kidding when he called the Bears' Rose Bowl record something to think about.

Carnegie Tech's Cage and Pigskin Mentor Resigns

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — After three years in which his teams absorbed regular beatings almost every time out, William W. (Wild Bill) Donohoe was on his way out today as football and basketball coach at Carnegie Tech.

Tech officials announced that Donohoe had submitted his resignation from both posts to take effect on July 1.

Working under Tech's program of de-emphasis of sports, Donohoe saw his football teams win only one game in three years, that a 7-0 upset of Grove City in the final game of the season just concluded. His basketball teams have fared only slightly better, winning nine and losing 34.

Donohoe said he had been seeking another position but was still without further commitments. Tech athletic director Clarence Overend said no consideration had yet been given to his successor.

Two Puck Stars Shoot For Mark

(By International News Service)

League standings will be temporarily forgotten tomorrow night when Cleveland's Fred Thurier meets Philadelphia's Phil Hergesheimer in their personal duel to shatter Les Cunningham's American Hockey league scoring mark of 233 goals.

Hergesheimer, with 227, leads Thurier by three goals, but the Rockets' shooting star has played two more games than the Baron center. This goal-getting trio all skated for Cleveland three years ago. Cunningham now coaches San Francisco in the Pacific coast league.

Modest Gains With Quiet Trading Seen In Market

NEW YORK —(AP)— Modest gains were made in the stock market today in very quiet trading.

Prices moved in a narrow range above and below the line, but the leaders on the top side were in a slight majority.

Rails and chemicals made the best relative showing. Steels and motors lagged. Airlines, motion pictures, and mail order and retail issues were mostly lower

At the opening of the market, prices were steady. A mid-morning dip was turned around about noontime, and in later trading stocks held their gains.

Reich Reds Lift Wraps From Aims

Actual Desires Now Revealed

BERLIN — (AP) — Eastern Germany is learning the hard way how to live like the Russians.

In three and a half years of occupation the Soviet union has stamped its imprint on 20,000,000 Germans between the Elbe and Oder rivers.

Loyal proconsuls of Moscow have transformed the politics and economy of this war-shattered land. Dressed up in a Teutonic accent and paying lip-service to nationalism, communist dogma grips the population virtually from the cradle to the grave.

Red objectives now are as plain to see as the towers of the Kremlin. They include:

A one-party state; a super-strong police force; liquidation of private enterprise; creation of kolkhoz (collective) farming; unswerving obedience to Russia in foreign affairs.

The cold war has dispelled much fog surrounding Russia's aims in Germany. The pattern is much the same as in other satellites in eastern Europe. But the time table is different.

No minor Red state has yet reached the Bolshevist perfect of Russia herself. That's what the Cominform says. But some are more advanced than others.

Because of the attempt at four-power control in Germany after the war, the Soviet occupation zone has lagged far behind Bulgaria, for example, in approaching Stalin's principles.

Since the breakdown of allied relations, the German communists have thrown off their wraps. They know where they are going and they are no longer mincing words.

The Russian military command now bans western foreign correspondents from touring its zone. In early 1946, the first press tour was permitted. Richard Kasischke of the Associated Press reported measures smacking of Moscow communism were being applied. His account was criticized in some foreign newspaper quarters as "unsubstantiated."

There's no argument about it today.

Berlin is a broad window 100 miles behind the iron curtain. Communists sometimes forget they are so closely observed. From their own newspapers, you can piece together the picture of eastern Germany.

Literally tons of reports are issued annually by the western allies regarding all phases of their occupation of western Germany. The Soviet command has never issued one.

The allies are still disputing among themselves over occupation aims. The Soviets can enjoy the luxury of silence, if they wish. Their mind is made up.

New York City has about 2,000,000 Jews, more than there are in Palestine.

Reveal New Leads Given FBI By Duggan Before Death Plunge

Spurned Red Spy Offers, Clark Says

Federal Agents Seek 2 Suspects

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The Justice department has shed new light on Laurence Duggan's interview with the FBI about a week before his fatal plunge from a New York skyscraper.

Attorney General Tom C. Clark said last night that the former state department official told FBI agents at their Dec. 10 meeting how two communist agents tried to lure him into the Red cap in the late 1930's.

Clark said Duggan reported he flatly rejected the "feelers." The attorney general reiterated that the FBI investigation had cleared Duggan of any connection with communist espionage in Washington before the war.

Clark did not reveal the identities of the two communist agents buts aid Duggan had given "valuable leads" to the FBI. He indicated the FBI is now investigating.

(Commentator Drew Pearson said in his Sunday night broadcast that the two were Hedie Massing, whom he identified as a former wife of Gerhard Eisler, and her "boss," a Russian agent named Boris Bykov. Pearson said they gave up on Duggan, deciding he was "hopeless" as a source of information.)

Duggan's name had been brought into the communist spy case by a witness before the House Unmerican Activities committee.

Shortly after his death, the committee released testimony in which Duggan was named as one of several state department officials who gave secrets to ex-communist Whittaker Chambers. Chambers himself has since denied the charge against Duggan.

Clark also took occasion in a television interview last night to defend his department against committee charges that it has not been vigorous enough in prosecuting subversives.

The attorney general pointed out that 12 communist party leaders are now under indictment. Moreover, he said, there have been 40 prosecutions of alleged subversives in the Dictrict of Columbia in recent months.

Europe Asks For Troops

BERLIN —(U.P.)— U. S. Army Secretary Kenneth Royall said today that officials of western Europe had asked for an increase of American troop strength in Europe.

Royall held a news conference after reviewing U. S. occupation troops in a ceremony at American military government headquarters. He has been on an inspection tour of U. S. installations in Europe.

Asked if American strength in Europe would be increased, Royall replied: "That is a matter which has not yet been determined." He refused to say what country or countries requested the increase.

Royall said he had not recommended any increase in Germany. Asked if he thought U. S. forces in Germany were strong enough, he said: "Our strength is a relative matter. On the basis of the overall Army troop strength now, I would not be inclined to recommend an increase in our forces in Germany."

Galion Power Case Postponed

BUCYRUS—The hearing on the Galion power injunction, which was scheduled in Crawford county Common Pleas court of Judge C. U. Ahl this afternoon, has been taken out of assignment. No explanation was given and the hearing will be reassigned later in the week, court attaches said.

The injunction seeks to restrain the Ohio Public Service from going into Galion to provide electrical power to three firms. Galion operates a municipal light plant which the opposing group contends could supply the needed extra power.

TWO SEAMEN RESCUED

NORFOLK, Va.—(INS)—Two Argentine sailors today were rescued from the wreckage of their tanker to which they clung for more than 30 hours in heavy seas off the North Carolina coast.

A Reminder: Extra Trees Can Be Used

Now that Christmas has passed, tree dealers are reminded of the plea issued earlier this week by the county fish and game association.

If any dealers have trees which went unsold and are ready to be consigned to the trash pile, call 3318-6 and Jim Burkhart will send a truck around to pick up the surplus trees.

These will be used to build feeing shelters at all possible points in Richland county, thus aiding the birds and animals to survive the rigors of what is predicted to be a hard winter.

Ohio's Deer Hunt Called Successful

The Ohio deer season was a success from every angle, State Conservation Commissioner H. A. Rider reports.

Whether deer hunters are better sportsmen than pheasant hunters might prove grounds for argument as a result of one of his findings. According to Rider, game violations were few and most of the hunters respected the farmer's rights.

This is quite a different statement from that released after pheasant hunters severely cut the Ohio brood stock by killing hen birds.

The usual number of laughs and odd notes came to light during the brief season. A Lockwood man found a wounded deer on his way to work, finished it off with a pocket knife, then was haled into a JP's court and fined $50 for illegal hunting.

A couple of hunters promised a farmer some venison if they shot their deer, went onto his land, downed their deer in a few moments and fled. The farmer is still waiting for his steaks.

One hunter was extremely proud of his 325 pound buck but it turned out to be a midget compared to one shot by a Kensington hunter. The latter dropped a 16-pointer that weighed 420 pounds.

GI's Aren't Only Ones With Gripes

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— The Hoover commission learned today that doctors, dentists and nurses in the government have the same gripes as GI Joe.

Its "task force" inquiring into the federal medical services came up with a report on how the medical personnel of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Veterans' Administration and Public Health Service like their jobs. The answer generally is, "pretty well, but—."

Steel Firms Smash All Old Records

Peacetime Output Hits All-Time High

NEW YORK — (INS) — The American Steel industry smashed all existing peacetime production records in 1948 with an output of more than 88 million tons.

This was disclosed today by the American Iron and Steel institute which asserted this year's production might have been the greatest in history of the industry had not the coal strike last April interrupted operations.

A spokesman for the institute said that the war years of 1943 and 1944 only exceeded the 1948 production. The 1943 output totaled 88,836,512 while the 1944 figure stood at 89,641,600.

Basis for this tremendous 1948 production was attributed to cooperation between management and the CIO-United Steel Workers and the vast expansion program undertaken by the industry soon after V-J day.

In 1947 Philip Murray, president of the Steel Workers union, negotiated a two-year contract with the industry containing a non-strike clause.

The steel industry's outlay for new and modern equipment since the end of the war in the Far East to December 1948 totaled $1,400,000,000. The program is expected to be completed early next year.

During the first nine months of the year only 3,377,846 tons of steel were exported, a decline of 31 per cent over 1947. Most of the 3,377,846 tons went to Marshall aid contries with Germany and other bombed-out nations receiving the greatest share. Great Britain received only a small portion of metal.

The institute spokesman pointed out that the rapidly improving steel production in Europe will give American industry more material next year. Output in Germany increased sharply in 1948, while production in other western European countries reached a level higher than the best prewar year.

New Law Aids All Landlords

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Landlords get a break under a change in regulations announced yesterday by housing expediter Tighe E. Woods.

The change applies to a landlord who petitions for a rent increase under the hardship section of the rent control law, or under the operating-at-a-loss provision.

The landlord will be allowed "to compute on a full annual basis any increase in certain operating expenses which were in effect" on the day he filed his petition for an adjustment but which were not fully reflected in the expenses incurred during the present year.

Germans Now Reveal Signs Of Unrest, Some Resistance

FRANKFURT —(UP)— These are the things that a traveler sees and hears in occupied Germany and Austria:

The best black market restaurant in Berlin is run by Herr Franz, who once was caterer to the late Nazi Reichsmarshal Herman Goering.

There you can have a whole young goose after hors d'oeuvres of caviar, smoked eels, sturgeon and other epicurian items. A whole Polish ham baked in bread crumbs is another favorite. Herr Franz, who says he is going to open a place in New York soon, figures his average customer pays $25 a meal.

Around Frankfurt, the old German arrogance is beginning to show itself. Some newspapers refer to Americans as "Amis," a not wholly respectful nickname. Germans loll insolently in front of American traffic and otherwise behave so that allied residents are beginning to speak of "passive resistance." But in Berlin, Germans are willing, almost anxious, to cooperate because they know what will happen if the Russians take over.

Austrian firms find the business of routing all telephone calls through Russian censorship in Vienna so galling that they send messengers on bicycles to the zonal borders and shout to or hand messages to bicycle riders from other establishments.

The four occupation powers assign their most alert lads to the international patrol in Vienna because it gives them a chance to find out what's going on in other sectors. Recently, a Russian member of a patrol tried to rescue two members of the Soviet secret police NXVD, who had jammed a gun against an Estonian girl they were trying to kidnap. It was in the American sector, so the American patrolman overruled the Russian and arrested both agents.

Some Allied officers are advising their German friends to leave Berlin before spring.

Pilots of the Berlin airlift cannot use heaters in their C-54's because of the danger of an explosion in the coal dust from their cargoes of coal. They call their planes "Pneumonia Hall."

New Peace Rumors Hit China Front

Negotiations Said Getting Underway

NANKING — (AP) — A "surprise revelation" of a truce for war-torn China was expected soon by semi-official sources in Nanking today.

These sources said that preliminary negotiations were under way by key men in Premier Sun Fo's new government looking toward peace with the communists.

The negotiations came in the wake of continued Red victories, the latest of which was in Kalgan, sealing off the vast northwest area of China and Mongolia.

Earlier the Reds advanced almost to the banks of the Yangtze river in the heart of China and closed in for the kill of Peiping and Tientsin in the government's toehold in north China.

However optimism that the fight would be carried on was voiced today by Wu Te-Chen, vice-premier and foreign minister in the new Chinese cabinet.

Wu told a press conference that the government wants peace—but that the Nationalists will continue fighting until the communists agree "to protect freedom and promote the national welfare."

He declared that China's foreign policy will not be changed even though she receives no more American aid.

Nevertheless many Nationalist leaders were reported convinced of the futility of further warfare after United States Ambassador Leighton Stuart told them that America "will not and can not" extend further aid to the Chiang Kai-Shek government.

This news was said to have persuaded top Nationalists that the government would inevitably collapse from economic strain and lack of military supplies.

Shao Li-Tze and Chang Chih-Chung, top men in the Chiang government but nevertheless regarded as "liberals," were the leaders in the negotiations.

Secret negotiations were reported in progress between Shao and Chang and N. V. Roshchin, the Soviet ambassador to China.

2-Lane Span To Be Built In Crawford

Replacement Bridge Planned In Spring

BUCYRUS — A new, two-lane bridge will be constructed over the Little Scioto river on State Route 4 near the Marion-Crawford county line, H. G. McMichael, state highway superintendent here, reported today.

The new structure will replace the present one-lane bridge. A dip, which obscures vision, also will be eliminated. The old bridge will be moved and placed on abutments of remains of a bridge used by the old Columbus and Southwestern street car line.

Traffic will be maintained, McMichael said. Removal of the old bridge will be started shortly and construction of the new span will be completed in the spring.

McMichael pointed out today, however, the project may be delayed because nine owners of property on the east side of the road adjoining the project have rejected sums offered them for right-of-way settlements.

Condemnation proceedings have been instituted in Crawford county pleas court here against the property owners, who are Emma Lott, Mary Eloise and Raymond V. Purniss and Bonnie Chaney, all of Marion; Ray and Imogene Denzer, Waldo, RFD 1, and Robert and Virginia Criswell, Mt. Gilead, RFD 2.

CROP Total Hits $10,000 In Holmes

MILLERSBURG — To date, Holmes county residents have contributed $10,000 to the CROP program which is helping feed the hungry people overseas. This is enough to provide 880 undernourished children of Europe with one quart of milk per day for one year.

All contributions have not yet been received. But at the latest report, Amish residents had contributed $4,740; Mennonite groups had donated $708.15; and other groups and churches had given $3,328.09. In addition, there were 154 pledges of milk, which is valued at approximately $1,232; making a total of $10,008.

This money will purchase about 71,420 pounds of dried milk which will be shipped overseas and distributed to the undernourished by religious organizations. When this dried milk is re-constituted, the Holmes county contribution will amount to 642,780 pounds of skim milk.

Given Briefcase

BUCYRUS — At the annual courthouse Christmas party held at the Moose Home here, Lawrence Heinlen, Bucyrus, retiring Crawford county commissioner, was presented with a briefcase, the gift of county officials and employes. Heinlen will be succeeded on the board by Roy Eichhorn, Whetstone township.

WORKER LOWERED FROM TANK—Robert Rivers (arrow), 40, is lowered from water tank into which he fell during dismantling operation in Chicago. Rivers, who was working on top of the empty tank when the roof gave way, plunged 25 feet to the bottom suffering a possible skull fracture. Firemen chopped a hole into the side of the tottering tank to rescue the injured man. (AP Wirephoto)

FALL PROVES FATAL

NEWARK — (INS) — Leslie H. Bowman, 52, is dead in a Newark hospital today as a result of a pre-Christmas fall from a two-story sign at a lumber company.

14 Cases Being Reviewed By Crawford Grand Jurors

BUCYRUS — Crawford county's grand jury, meeting here today and tomorrow, will have at least 14 cases presented for their review, Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon reported.

Unusual among the cases is that of Stanley Smith, 21, and Harold Beach, 38, both of Galion, who are bound over to the jury on charges of careless and reckless operation of aircraft over the city of Galion.

The pair were arrested last July 29 by Galion police after complaints from citizens. They were held to the grand jury by Galion Justice of Peace Richard Riblet. A copy of the complaint, which cited violation of the Ohio general code, was filed with the Civil Aeronautics administration in Cleveland for investigation.

Other cases to be submitted to the jury include: Lloyd Jack, illegal hauling; Ted Gay, cutting with intent to wound; Hodges Critzer, failure to provide for a minor child; William R. Faile, burning personal property of another person; Arden High, assault and battery.

Ralph Dunn, indecent exposure; Robert Newman, forgery; Jesse Shaw, neglect to provide for minor child; Ralph Baker, alias Ronald Webb, intent to defraud; Charles Blair jr., illegal operation of a motor vehicle; Harold Grimes and W. F. Rosebrough, Marion, non-support; John B Radcliff and James H. York, both Bucyrus, contributing to delinquency of minors.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS

MILLERSBURG — Prairie Grange will have an open meeting at the regular meeting place Thursday evening, for the installation of officers. Refreshments will be served.

Parking Needed

BUCYRUS—City council has been urged to provide more automobile parking space at City hospital and has referred the matter to its finance committee. Suggestion for enlargement of the parking area to provide space for 15 to 20 more autos was made by Councilmen D. D. Bisler, a Bucyrus physician.

The Christmas party was highlighted with the announcement by Mrs. Schifer of her approaching marriage to Walter Mead, Bucyrus. The nuptials will take place Jan. 23. Mrs. Schifer's husband was burned fatally when an oil stove exploded in their farm home shortly after she had arrived in this country.

Strike Loss of Production Reduced

LOSS OF PRODUCTION time due to labor strikes in 1948 was less than in 1947 by about four per cent. The most controversial matter in the field of labor relations at present is the Taft-Hartley Act, and observers on both sides of the controversy have seized on strike report figures to support their arguments. Foes of the act say it did not accomplish any material reduction in strikes, while supporters cite figures to show that certain kinds of strikes, at which the act was aimed, have been greatly reduced.

Perhaps congressional neutrals, if there are any, may be able to persuade both sides that the chief thing shown by the strike loss report is that no real conclusions are possible as yet. The gain which has been made is small, but if a similar change were made each year for ten years, the total gain would be great. On the basis of knowledge so far available, there is no way of determining whether the progress would or would not continue, or whether it was or was not a result of the Taft-Hartley Act.

If the act can be viewed objectively, the most reasonable thing to do with it would seem to be to modify it, so as to get rid of features which both supporters and opponents agree are objectionable, and take more time to observe its effects.

Thieves That Mar Holiday Enjoyment

EACH holiday season brings stories of thieves who have stolen money which was saved for some family's Christmas, filched the packages of some Yuletide shopper, or entered a home on Christmas eve to loot the tree which had been prepared in happy anticipation of the morrow. These are called stories of the "meanest thief," and people wonder how even a thief can stoop so low.

But in fact the one who loots a Christmas tree is no different from other thieves. Stealing does not become a greater crime when it happens to be done under circumstances that shock the sensibilities of law abiding people, nor is the thief any more despicable. The thief goes about his work with a warped mind—he has no scruples against stealing—and he thinks he will not be caught.

That is why it is a waste of public energy and money to imprison a thief for a time and then release him, if no attempt is made to take the kinks out of his mind. Mere punishment will not change his crooked ideas; he needs mental treatment, re-education, and rehabilitation.

Christmas thieves are not really worse than other thieves, they merely show with unusual clearness the nature of their kind.

United Nations Has Language Troubles

WHAT is an international language? The United Nations General Assembly has been using English and French, all speeches being translated into both. Now under urging from the Latin American countries, Spanish has been put on a par with the other two. The assembly heads opposed the idea, partly on the ground of the expense that extra translators would entail, also for fear that this would be a signal for further applications for adding languages.

Russian and Chinese are now accepted as "official" languages, meaning that speeches may be made in them and certain important documents translated into them; but there is no desire to put these difficult tongues on a par with English, French and Spanish as common languages.

The United Nations fear may be well grounded. Already there are hints that the Mohammedan countries will ask for the inclusion of Arabic. Then India has some 370,000,000 people, speaking many languages, with Hindustani far in the lead, though no precise figures are available.

The important point to the United Nations is not how many people speak a language but how many representatives rely on it.

More Meat From Contented Cattle

IT IS BELIEVED that Kansas beef production was increased by sixty million pounds this summer by the simple step of spraying cattle with insecticides. Two types of bug killers were used in the state-wide experiment, which involved only two applications for each animal. The report on the experiment says that weight losses due to damage and annoyance to the cattle by lice and flies were reduced, and the animals were able to graze without disturbance. This meant also that they made proportionately more of their weight gain on pasture and required less grain feeding.

This information, as given by the National Livestock Loss Prevention Board, is worth looking into. Such progress, in growing more food in a given area and in each production cycle, is demanded to meet needs of the expanding world population. A method of making more food, which is simple and easy to use generally, is doubly worth while.

Some Outstanding Baseball Records

ONE baseball record which seems in no danger is George Sisler's achievement of 257 hits in one season. Al Simmons came near it in his first year, with 253. Nobody else has even approached the 250 mark, and the publication of the 1948 official figures shows that no one did this year.

Bob Dillinger of the St. Louis Browns, who got the most hits in the American League, had only 207. Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals did better in the National with the resounding figure of 230 hits. Both, however, are quite a bit short of 250. Certainly the prospect does not look good for any batter ever attaining 300 hits, or even 275.

Another figure which seems almost impossible of attainment is 75 home runs in one year. Babe Ruth's 60 is the record. Forty pitching victories sound almost as unattainable, except that Jack Chesbro of the New York American Leaguers won 41 in 1904. He ruined his arm doing it, and no pitcher in many years has come even close to that mark.

Harry Wade suggests: "While the royal babe is given fewer names than is usual for a prince, Charles Philip Arthur George is enough for one table of bridge."

What Some Other People Are Saying

SEN. PEPPER (D) Fla: "American financing, even indirectly, of aggression is inconsistent with our stated principles and policies and actual practice in the past."

* * *

REP. KLEIN (R) N. Y.: "The Netherlands government has not only outraged the aims of the United Nations but has disowned the solemn assurance of their queen only a year ago."

GEN. LUCIUS CLAY, U. S. occupation commander: "Too great a degree of international control will prepare fertile soil for German demagogues seeking to rally the people around slogans of exploitation and persecution."

The Moth's Successors.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Socialization of English Bars Proposed

THE English pub, long a substantial institution in the life of the Island and a veritable pillar of free enterprise, is threatened now by the Labor government's tide of nationalization.

The licensing bill, now before parliament, proposes a species of state management of premises licensed for the sale of beer and spirits. There are loud outcries from owners and patrons. But there is unlimited, if not smug, satisfaction on the part of temperance forces.

It would seem that the startling rise of socialism in nationalizing the fields of mining, banking and medicine and the impending socialization of lawyers and steel has provided all the intoxication that Labor feels Britons need.

At any rate, reform, never distinguished by a sense of humor, feels that regimentation must set no limits on its invasion of the poor man's life.

It seems that state management of pubs has been tried experimentally in some British communities, and there are mixed reports on its effect. At Carlyle the experiment was tried during the war as a means of reducing drunkenness among munitions workers. The pending proposal is limited to "new" towns, but it is clear that it is only a wedge toward fairly general public management.

* * *

Great Possibilities.

EFFICIENCY and sobriety might be gained by such a measure, but diversity and that unpremeditated and unplanned conviviality and color which distinguish Britain's version of our saloon certainly will be lost.

Imagine a Dickens or a Hogarth attempting to apply his talents to public houses built in the deadly image of a blueprint drawn in Whitehall! When one pub is like all others, what incentive remains to make a night of it? A visitor from abroad searching for the variety that is England can see it all at one sitting.

But imagine the inducement to a political government to enlist all bar men and maids in the service of the state. No staff of political workers ever could have such intimate and continuous access to voters. And conceive of the power of government agents in the art of persuasion at moments when voters are most impressionable and agreeable!

Tammany, a government within a government, always has been aware of this. Its ancient citadels were always in the public bars. And in most machine cities, the rise of bosses was almost invariably through early experience in the saloon business.

But there was no humorless socialist government holding the whip over these petty overlords. There was democracy in the American machine. The saloon controlled government; government did not own the saloon.

Perhaps this new Labor party idea will gain ground in Washington. It would be difficult, however, to arouse for the enthusiasm of certain stalwarts of Democracy such as Hague, Kelley and Pendergast. With their help, we may be assured that private enterprise will make its last stand before the bar.

The Nation Today

Dangling Ends of 1948

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON—Has 1948 left you with a feeling of unfinished business?

Do you feel that somehow you've been living through a year that was only getting ready for next year, or the next?

The year 1948 has left an awful lot of loose ends dangling.

First, of course, there were the Russians, and Berlin, and the United Nations, and the Marshall Plan, all unfinished business.

By mid-year the Russians, who had been getting tougher by the minute, got very tough and threw a land blockade around Berlin.

We had to begin shipping in supplies by air, a very expensive job. And we're still doing that. No one knows how it will end.

But everyone knows it's only part of the vast non-shooting war between this country and Russia.

And in the United Nations the Russians screamed and called names and got names screamed back at them.

This performance of the diplomats wasn't very pretty to the plain people everywhere who thought the U. N. had been created to bring about some kind of world harmony.

But at least at year's end the U. N. is still in existence, although looking pale.

And the Marshall Plan got started. The 80th Congress voted billions for it to help western Europe recover and stop communism.

The plan is reported to be doing some good. But it will have to go on for maybe three more years or longer.

So it will be a long time before we know for sure whether it will accomplish what it set out to do.

* * *

AND HERE at home, looking back, 1948 seemed to be a year of endless war between President Truman and the 80th Congress, run by Republicans.

The "do nothing Congress," he called it. He made that a slogan in his fight for election to a full four-year term in the White House.

And he won, much to the embarrassment of Washington's political experts and the nation's politakers who said he didn't have a chance.

This startling victory alone forced everyone to realize that 1948 truly was a year of unfinished business because—

With the Democrats back in control of Congress in 1949, they'll have a chance to do what they said in 1948 they'd do if they got elected.

And what they promised was really a promise to revive and carry on the New Deal which had gone into a coma before President Roosevelt died in 1945.

So the Democrats took their election as an order from the people to go on with their unfinished business.

And there was a little more business begun but not finished in 1948: The draft, to build up the armed forces.

Since the reason for the draft in the first place—worry about Russia—is still unfinished business, the draft is still on the books and the armed forces still want plenty of power in 1949.

And there was the spy case. That's really unfinished business. A federal grand jury indicted Alger Hiss, former state department official, on a perjury charge in this case.

He was the only one against whom any charge was made. And the grand jury which indicted him on Dec. 15 folded up the same day.

That jury had been investigating spying for 18 months and, since its life was only 18 months, it had to end.

Then a new grand jury picked up where the old one left off. It will be looking into spying in 1949.

So will the House un-American activities committee, which dug into spying in 1948 but is rather quiet right now, getting ready its report on the year's work. In 1949 it will pick up where it left off.

Dave Boone Says:

NOW it's official. The U. S. department of agriculture says it is all bunk about there being any difference between eggs in white shells and eggs in brown shells. It's refreshing these days to find Washington taking a firm stand on something.

* * *

The taste, nutrition value and quality inside the white shell are the same as the brown, it is formally announced by the department, but it is only going to get itself into a hot argument with housewives all over the land. Their mothers and grandmothers told them different.

* * *

These days I'm happy when I can afford an egg in any color, including pink, red and turquoise. A chicken does the best it can and it's unfair to ask that it be careful about its color work.

* * *

In the same bulletin the department knocks out an old belief that milk doesn't go well with lobsters, fish, tomatoes and certain other foods. Any two foods that are good for you separately are good for you together, it says.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

America Endangered By Era of Terror

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Memo to Congressman Mundt of the un-American activities committee.

When the body of Larry Duggan crashed to the pavement from the 16th story of a New York building, you announced that Duggan was on the list of state department suspects who had given confidential data to Whittaker Chambers. You also stated to the press, "We will give out the other names as they jump out of windows."

In making that statement, Congressman, you put yourself in exactly the same category as the Soviet torturers in Prague who caused the body of heroic Jan Maysaryk to be found outside his window.

You put yourself in the same category as the Himmlers of Germany who dogged and plagued their innocent victims until all the world turned against Germany.

I have covered the state department for years and I knew Larry Duggan intimately. I do not like to see communists in government any more than you do, and on one occasion I warned a high official regarding a man considered close to the communists.

Larry Duggan, on the other hand, was no more a communist than you—less so, because he tried to cure the evils that cause communism. He tried to help the starving peons of Latin America. He tried to curb the Perons who trample on people's rights.

* * *

Rattling Old Skeletons.

ONCE, in 1932, Duggan attended some communist meetings in Alexandria, Va., and that may be the skeleton you now rattle in his coffin. But that was in the depth of the depression when breadlines were blocks long, when farmers in your own Northwest threatened to lynch judges, and when 20,000 veterans of World War I stormed the capital.

Duggan was in his twenties then. And if you are going to let the distressed groping of a youngster's soul for depression's cure tarnish his reputation two decades later, then some of our greatest men might also lose their place in history.

But to those who knew him, you can never tarnish the reputation of Laurence Duggan. He was a kindly, sensitive soul, who tried to support four kids on a measly government salary because he loved his work and was passionately devoted to the good-neighbor policy.

He was the kind of a man who makes this government great—the kind who slaves for it, and sacrifices for it, because he believed in it—the kind of middle-of-the-roaders whom communists consider their worst enemies.

When you were elected to the United States Senate last November, Congressman Mundt, I wrote a tribute to you. I said among other things, that you had improved with age, that you had become more tolerant.

However, as an old friend, I must warn you that you may win for yourself the title "Murderer Mundt," because, in addition to gloating over men's deaths, you so callously murder their reputations.

Laurence Duggan is dead now. He cannot defend himself. But other men have risen to his defense—among them two men who did not agree on many things—Cordell Hull and Sumner Welles—but who did agree on the integrity of the man whom you, Congressman, have crucified.

Remember, Congressman, that trial by jury and grand jury is a priceless heritage built up by our forefathers through centuries of struggle, not something to be trampled on by headline-hunting congressmen who blast the reputations of men deemed to be innocent until they are proven guilty.

Remember also that the headline-seeking of a few congressmen is a lot less important to this nation that our personal liberties, and that the era of terror you are promoting may do a lot more to undermine our American system than the ten-year outdated communist spies you belatedly seek to expose.

Truman On Housing.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN made it clear to a delegation of housing experts the other day that he wouldn't forget middle-income groups when he requests Congress for a broad-gauged new public housing law.

David Krooth of the National Public Housing Conference and young Jack Carter of the Veterans of Foreign Wars prompted Truman's remark. Krooth reminded the President that high-income groups had no housing problems, while low-incomers would be helped by the government.

"But there are many, many people in between," Krooth pointed out.

"Yes," continued Carter, "countless veterans who want to buy homes can't do so, because of higher and higher interest charges and down payments."

Truman replied he was glad his visitors had brought up the subject, "because it's something I've been thinking about for a long time.

"It applies not only to housing, but to health, education and other things," added the President. "The wealthy can take care of themselves, while the government usually aids the lower brackets on their various needs. The folks in between have to struggle along on their own and frequently have to do without the necessities of life. I would like to say that no country can be free for long where that condition is permitted to continue.

"These people are the backbone of our nation. If they need a helping hand to establish homes for their families, I think it is only right they should get it from their government," concluded the President.

Viewing the National Scene

Annoyed By Roadblocks

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — Having been a member of Congress himself for 10 years, President Truman is thoroughly aware of the devices and techniques by which measures ostensibly favored by a majority of the people and of Congress can be pigeonholed or sidetracked or, in the case of the Senate, talked to death by filibusters.

This is a matter of intimate concern now to the chief executive because, for the first time, he is not only President in his own right but he also has a Congress elected with him, a Democratic Congress, which a majority of the people expect to carry out the program he pledged in his successful campaign.

Consequently, he now is disposed to encourage his leaders in Congress to do something about some of the roadblocks.

These roadblocks affect, in particular, two phases of the President's program that are highly controversial. One is the so-called social welfare program embodying housing, health and education and an increase in the statutory minimum wage of 40 cents an hour, among others. The other is his civil-rights program, including anti-poll tax, anti-lynching and anti-discrimination bills, the last the F. E. P. C.

The chief stumbling block, as affects social welfare measures, is the House of Representatives. There the blockades are raised at two points, initially in legislative committees, themselves, where a coalition of southern conservative Democrats and Republicans has prevented approval, and, finally, at the last stage, in the House rules committee, likewise controlled now for some time by a coalition of southern Democrats and Republicans.

* * *

Changes Expected.

THE HOUSE rules committee, consisting of veteran members, is supposedly a procedural committee to determine the "rule" under which bills previously approved by legislative committees shall be considered by the House, as to time for debate, amendments, and the like.

But this committee has come to arrogate to itself legislative powers and, on occasion, has shelved measures approved by the proper legislative committee, as, for example, the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill in the last Congress.

As for civil-rights bills, they have been stopped cold in the Senate always in the past by southern filibusters.

In each case, it is the dictates of a few members that paralyze the legislative process.

The seniority rule plays its part by bringing to the top as chairmen of important committees a preponderance of southern conservatives because of the long tenure guaranteed by the one-party system in the South.

That gives a conservative cast to Congress out of proportion to the South's numerical strength so that Congress does not reflect recurring mandates by the people such as, for instance, that of the recent election.

President Truman's aim is to strike directly at the rules committee blockade and the filibuster and indirectly at the seniority system without abolishing it.

He has talked the whole problem over with both Vice President-elect Barkley and Rep. Rayburn of Texas who will be speaker in the next House.

The veto power of the rules committee would be removed by requiring that committee to report to the House within 30 days, either favorably or adversely, bills submitted to it by legislative committees, and let the House then decide by majority vote whether to take up the bill or lay it aside.

It is also the plan to modify the unlimited debate permitted under present Senate rules.

Grab Bag

One-Minute Test.

1. Does any American zoo have a saber-toothed tiger?
2. Which was the first European nation to recognize the independence of the United States?
3. If you carved your initials on a tree, would they stay in the same spot or would they grow upward as the tree grew?

Words of Wisdom.

Occupation is one great source of enjoyment. No man, properly occupied, was ever miserable.—L. E. Landon.

Etiquette Hint.

Don't stop in a doorway to chat. Always step to one side so that those who wish to go in or out may do so without having to push past you.

Answers To Test.

1. No, because the saber-toothed tiger is extinct and only known in fossilized form.
2. France, in 1778.
3. The initials would grow outward but not upward, as a tree grows taller from the top.

Introducing Silviculture

By CALVIN A. BYERS

IN THIS age of research, experiments are the style and change is the key to progress. Radar, atomic energy, television, would have been magic once. Now they are commonplace to many people.

The forests yield their share of modern magic. Cattle food from sawdust; rayon made from wood; kraft paper industry made from Southern pine; even the radio that warns the forester of the whereabout of a fire and makes it controllable in time.

Wood is plasticized, molded, impregnated, laminated, distilled, spun. But the greatest lag is in the production of forests. Hybrid forest trees take time and much experimentation. So there is still a broad field just opening in silviculture—tree farming.

I have always said that the two best things a man can do are to plant a tree and to train a boy for honest citizenship.

Why not combine two good things, by training the boy to plant trees for his own future benefit and letting them grow up together? Start small. One tree on the child's first birthday; two trees the second year; three the third, and so on. When he is adolescent the lad will have a little grove and can know each variety of tree as a particular friend.

Tree farming pays big dividends. Forested lands do not wash away. Forest fires are not the hazard they once were. There is a harvest of beauty and an increase in beneficial wild life—fish and game profit by clear streams and plentiful foliage. Springs do not dry up. Moisture remains in the earth near where it fell for a longer time. Living conditions are more healthful.

To plant small forest trees every year can become a delightful family tradition. And to explore the plantings every so often can be fully as entertaining as golf, and just as stimulating. On her hillside farm near Arlington, Vermont, Dorothy Canfield Fisher began planting little pines 35 years ago. Robert Frost, the poet, visited there and saw the little trees growing. He said, "To enjoy the last 30 years of life a man should be interested in trees before he is 30 years old."

Our land needs trees and people who love them. Here is a fine investment for service clubs, veterans' groups, women's clubs, farm bureaus, granges, as well as for families and communities. It is something that needs doing that anyone who is willing can do . . . for some it can be a lifetime profession, for some just a delightful hobby, for others a source of spiritual strength.

"The groves were God's first temples." . . . "Blessed is the man . . . like a tree planted by the rivers of water . . . his leaf shall not wither, and whatsoever he doeth shall prosper."

Here Are Holiday Tips

Here are a couple of hints to keep in mind when fixing meals during the holiday season. These are the little extras that take meals out of the everyday class.

A trick they use in the Northwest, says the Companion, is to dip tiny fruitcake cubes in candy-dipping chocolate and trim with silver shot. Here's a dessert your youngsters will love Put marshmallows on apples during the last three minutes of baking Let melt and run down over the apple. Fix a lot, you'll need them.

Are you wondering what to do with those leftover walnuts? Try this. Dip the halves in slightly-beaten egg white, then in a cinnamon-sugar mix such as you'd made for cinnamon toast Spread nuts in a shallow pan and bake in a slow oven about 15 minutes. They are a crusty, delicious treat and fine to serve with after dinner coffee.

Marcella Grau Feted With Shower

Miss Marcella Grau, bride-elect of George Frank, was entertained at a personal shower given by Miss Jane Nusbaum, 800 Andover road. Twelve guests were in attendance with one out-of-town guest, Miss Nancy Giles of Elyria, Ohio.

Bridge was the diversion of the evening with prizes going to Miss Helen Zivkoff and Miss Peggy Iden, who presented them to the honoree.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, December 28.

FOR any show of definite progress and prosperity, with happiness and peace of mind, it may call for much careful analysis of underlying principles, rationalizing complicated situations, obscure and difficult to deal with. The judgment and mental evaluation of involved conditions, if further beclouded by desire and emotion rather than reason and logic, may beget false decisions with unhappy encounters in all relations. Home and social affairs may gain by consideration for others as well as attention to the personal health. Be gracious and amiable in uncertain situations.

For the Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be found in a complex and strange state of affairs, in which important decisions may be complicated by obscure or misleading elements. This calls for very realistic analysis, not dreams, ideals or other intangible conclusions Emotional or sentimental slants may result in false security or curious affiliations, in which sarcasm and criticism may hurt.

A child born on this day may be restless, secretive and prone to arrive at decisions through curious reasoning, with subtlety rather than logic and sound principle.

Australian Girl Finds Desire To Write Surpasses Everything

By MARIAN WEST

AUSTRALIAN born, Mrs. Brynhild Wood, who but for a trick of fate might have been a renowned contemporary novelist, is now working as a waitress in Mansfield.

The daughter of a museum curator who was an Oxford university graduate, lecturing in Paris, Munich and Naples, Mrs. Wood was reared in a newly settled territory in far off Australia. There her father and mother, the latter a trained nurse and the first white woman in this area, took roots and raised a family of seven children—four girls and three boys.

Bryn often accompanied her father and brothers into the Simpson Desert in search of meteorites Specimens of one which she found, weighing 126 pounds, are now on display in the Smithsonian Institute. At the age of 14 her first newspaper article concerning these expeditions was published in "The Advertiser" at Adelaide, Australia

Long before this Bryn had been nourishing aspirations toward a literary career. She decided to attend Adelaide university, majoring in literature. She was graduated with a Bachelor of Arts. But prior to this point, at the age of 19, she met, fell in love with and married an American soldier.

A child was born—Charles, now four years old, and soon Bryn found her way to San Francisco as a war bride. After her husband's arrival, five weeks later, they moved to Carrolton, O From there they went on to Canton where another child, Charmian Bryn, now three, was born.

Since February Bryn has been living in Mifflin. For a short while she worked at the Mifflin Inn and now at the Leland. She was forced into waitress work in order to maintain her family. A teacher's salary would not have been adequate, she said.

But she doesn't complain She likes it because she likes people. However, one aspect of Mansfield which she finds disconcerting is the lack of an ocean She misses the roar of the surf which was ever prevalent in Australia. She spent a short vacation at Miami Beach, Fla., and has nothing but praises for that playland of the United States.

Bryn hasn't forgotten her desire to write—particularly since her sister has become a well-known novelist in England She has been formulating an outline of the plot of her novel in her mind for sime time now and she hopes to return to Australia soon to actually start writing. The reason she has not as yet undertaken the task is because she feels that she can't beat the cost of living here

Approximately $2.500 is what Bryn thinks she will need to finance her novel At home her family will back her, but of course she hates to leave her new-found land
